

VAHCDO 2017 Legal & Policy Seminar

November 30 - December 1, 2017 at the Richmond Omni

Join us for our annual Legal & Policy Seminar and kick-off the holiday season with VAHCDO! This seminar is a must for Housing Authority leaders, municipal community development officials, and attorneys involved with housing and community development issues.

The seminar will be held at the Richmond Omni on November 30 - December 1, 2017. As in years past, attorneys will earn CLE credits; previous annual seminars have been awarded up to 5.0 credit hours by the Virginia Mandatory Continuing Legal Education Board of the Virginia State Bar. In addition to a briefing on proposed legislative activity, we will hear about relevant court cases from around the country, as well as issues with expanding and preserving affordable housing opportunities.

Our invited speakers include Adrienne Todman, NAHRO; Lisa Walker, HDLI; Rod Solomon, Hawkins Delafield & Wood LLP; Meghan Glasheen, Reno & Cavanaugh, Joshua Ogburn, UVA; and others. Speakers will provide informative updates on current legal topics and emerging issues that affect our industry. There will be plenty of time for networking and socializing with your industry peers, as well.

We will begin with a welcoming reception on Thursday evening. Following dinner, we are honored to have Adrienne Todman, CEO of NAHRO, who will give her insights from the national battle in our nation's capital. Friday starts with a full breakfast followed by a half day of sessions. We look forward to your attendance and participation!

Special Pre-Conference Session: Executive Management and Leadership Training

For the first time ever, VAHCDO is hosting a special leadership training for its members who are emerging leaders or in senior management positions.

This is a year-long training process; the first session will be offered on November 30, before the 2017 Legal & Policy Seminar. Sessions will be conducted by certified NAHRO trainers and begin with the required ethics training; defining the meaning of professional ethics and clarifying how ethical behavior benefits professionals, agencies and the industry as a whole. The sessions will continue with veteran housing leaders in the affordable housing industry. This training will equip participants in promoting excellence in employee performance, managing the complexities of change, developing strategic initiatives, advocating on the federal and state level, critical thinking and use of evidence-based best practices.
